Today's focus:

- NY Fed 1-Yr inflation expectations will be released today.

Today in the markets

Global markets started the week cautiously as investors awaited key US inflation data following signs of labor market weakness. The Producer Price Index will be released Wednesday, followed by the Consumer Price Index on Thursday, both seen as critical for shaping the Federal Reserve's September policy decision. Last week's payrolls report, showing only 22K new jobs, reinforced expectations that the Fed will move toward easing. Futures now nearly fully price in a 25 basis point rate cut, with some betting on a larger half-point move depending on this week's inflation readings.

The dollar index held above 97.8 after slipping late last week on the weak jobs data. Traders remain focused on whether tariff-driven price pressures complicate the Fed's path to easing. Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent expressed confidence that the Supreme Court will ultimately uphold the administration's tariff powers, though he warned of major financial risks if they are overturned. At the same time, tensions flared as President Donald Trump threatened tariff investigations against the European Union following a USD 3.5 billion fine imposed on Google.

US stocks ended mixed last week. S&P 500 rose 0.3% and Nasdaq advanced 1.1%, while Dow slipped 0.3%. Tech names provided support, but trade and monetary policy uncertainty limited gains. Investors will now turn to this week's inflation prints, alongside second-quarter GDP revisions, consumer confidence, and housing data, for further clarity on the US growth outlook.

BIST 100 index dropped 4.95% on the week to close at 10,729.49, pressured by profit-taking after recent highs. Attention now shifts to the Turkish central bank's policy meeting, where economists expect a 200–300bps rate cut from 43% to around 41%. July current account data and upcoming industrial production will also be in focus. With easing expectations building, domestic markets are set to watch whether the TCMB maintains its path of gradual but steady rate reductions. According to the Medium-Term Program (2025–2027) published in the Official Gazette, Turkey set growth targets of 3.3% for 2025, 3.8% for 2026, and 4.3% for 2027. Inflation is projected to decline to 28.50% in 2025, 16.0% in 2026, and 9.0% in 2027.

The Damla Kent Project, which is being carried out by our company, continues uninterrupted and in accordance with the planned schedule.

The new zoning plans for the Başakşehir-İkitelli area, where our project is located, were put on public display on September 4th. These plans will not only avoid disrupting our project but will also add significant value through new transportation routes and a holistic planning approach for the area.

The information that has appeared in the public domain and is related to old plans has no bearing on our project's current building permits. Our tender process to begin construction on the Damla Kent Project is proceeding as planned.

The value of real estate certificates is tied to the physical existence and completion assurance of the project. Our company, Emlak Konut REIC, and the landowner, TOKİ, fully stand behind all project commitments.

Necessary legal action will be initiated under the Capital Markets Law against those who spread misleading information aimed at disrupting the market.

Deniz Yatırım analysts evaluate stocks in light of potential catalysts, triggering developments, and risks, as well as market, sector, and competitor developments. After publicly disclosing general investment recommendations, our analysts closely monitor stocks. However, if stock price fluctuations cause values to exceed the limits of our rating system, our analysts may choose not to change their recommendation regarding the stock and/or place it Under Review (UR). There is absolutely no time constraint for our analysts in terms of rating and/or recommendation updates in the event of a potential UR. From a valuation perspective, if there is mathematical potential for an increase or risk of decline, our analysts may make recommendations outside the BUY-HOLD-SELL framework. They consider the general trend and recent developments in the sector and company beyond potential return levels that form the basis of the rating. In such cases, the evaluation may consider various factors, such as general sector conditions, potential risk and return, parameters in the latest financial statements, and political and geopolitical factors. Our analysts do not use a mechanical process that only considers mathematical values when making BUY-HOLD-SELL recommendations.
