Markets notes

U.S. markets closed the first trading day of 2026 with a modestly positive tone. In this context, S&P 500 ended the session up 0.2% after fluctuating throughout the day. Nasdaq down by 0.2%, while Dow Jones outperformed, rising 0.7%. U.S. Dollar Index gained 0.4%, testing the 98.70 level, while the euro/dollar parity down 0.4%, slipping below 1.17.

U.S. President Donald Trump announced that a large-scale military operation was carried out in Venezuela on January 3, 2026. It was stated that Venezuelan leader Nicolás Maduro and his wife, Cilia Flores, were captured by U.S. forces, and that Maduro would be taken to the United States to stand trial.

Following the operation, Trump stated that Venezuela would remain under U.S. control for a period of time, with the U.S. administration overseeing the country until a transition process is completed. He also referred to plans for managing Venezuela's oil resources in cooperation with U.S. energy companies.

Global oil prices reacted only modestly in the short term following developments in Venezuela. Brent crude and U.S. light crude prices experienced limited fluctuations. This muted reaction reflects the fact that Venezuela's current oil production accounts for only a small portion of global supply, while markets are already facing an oversupply. In the longer term, should sanctions be lifted under a new government and production increase, higher oil supply could exert downward pressure on prices.

In the wake of these developments, activity increased in cryptocurrency markets. Bitcoin surpassed the $91,000 threshold, while altcoins posted gains of up to 10% on a weekly basis.

The BIST 100 Index closed the first trading day of 2026 with a gain of over 2%. While a low-volume environment driven by holiday conditions in global markets prevailed throughout the week, the BIST 100 started the new year on a positive note. The banking index gained 6.40% last week, while the industrial index gained 0.26%.

Locally, the most important topic of the week is the December inflation data to be released by TURKSTAT. The market consensus expects monthly inflation to increase by around 1%. If the figure comes in line with expectations, inflation would continue its decline for a third consecutive month, albeit at a limited pace. USD/TRY, which started the week around 42.90, reached a new record high at 43.0394, while EUR/TRY traded within the 50.40–50.78 range during the week.

Among the data releases scheduled for this week, domestic indicators include provisional foreign trade statistics, CPI, the Real Effective Exchange Rate, and industrial production. Abroad, key data to be monitored include the U.S. ISM Manufacturing Index, ADP employment report, Services PMI, ISM Services Index, JOLTS job openings, trade balance, nonfarm payrolls, and the University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index.

Equities:TUPRS: Normalization in cracks / neutral

Tüpraş shared December product cracks and differentials in its January investor presentation.

Accordingly, while average Brent oil price was 63.7 USD/barrel in November, it was 62.7 USD/barrel in December.

Diesel cracks fell MoM by USD12.9 per barrel to USD23.0 per barrel (December 2024: USD16.1 per barrel). Jet fuel cracks was down by USD7.0 per barrel MoM to USD23.1 per barrel (December 2024: USD12.1 per barrel). Gasoline cracks declined by USD6.1 per barrel monthly to USD17.6 per barrel (December 2024: USD11.0 per barrel). We may say that there was mainly upward course in the cracks of LPG, naphtha and high sulphur fuel oil which do not have a significant share in total sales.

When we look at the cost side, we see a flattish course in differentials on average.

We view the decline in cracks as a normalization following a period of rapid increase. 4Q25 averages of cracks for major products such as diesel, gasoline, and jet fuel is significantly higher than in 4Q24.

Overview: Our 12-month target price for Tüpraş is TRY267.00 and recommendation is BUY. The stock outperformed BIST 100 Index by 25% in 2025. According to the last 12-month data, the stock trades at 13.8x P/E and 5.3x EV/EBITDA multiples.

SIGNIFICANT

As Deniz Investment Strategy and Research Department, we do not make any investment consultancy and/or buy-sell proposals in this study. Investors should make decisions on their own portfolio with their own free will. The aim of this study is to reflect the values they get on a daily basis through the scoring system established over the changes of the selected indicators (price level, trading volume, RSI and MACD).

How the scoring system works ?

Shares that meet each of the following conditions are given 25 full points. Evaluation was made out of 100 full points. The shares in the BIST 100 index are ranked from largest to smallest according to their total scores.

- 1) The trading volume on the basis of shares should be above the average trading volume of the last 3 days.
- 2) The last closing price should be above the 3-day moving average value and the previous closing price.

Deniz Yatırım analysts evaluate stocks in light of potential catalysts, triggering developments, and risks, as well as market, sector, and competitor developments. After publicly disclosing general investment recommendations, our analysts closely monitor stocks. However, if stock price fluctuations cause values to exceed the limits of our rating system, our analysts may choose not to change their recommendation regarding the stock and/or place it Under Review (UR). There is absolutely no time constraint for our analysts in terms of rating and/or recommendation updates in the event of a potential UR. From a valuation perspective, if there is mathematical potential for an increase or risk of decline, our analysts may make recommendations outside the BUY-HOLD-SELL framework. They consider the general trend and recent developments in the sector and company beyond potential return levels that form the basis of the rating. In such cases, the evaluation may consider various factors, such as general sector conditions, potential risk and return, parameters in the latest financial statements, and political and geopolitical factors. Our analysts do not use a mechanical process that only considers mathematical values when making BUY-HOLD-SELL recommendations.
